DIARY OF LAWRENCE HAMMOND.

AT a meeting of the MASSACHUSETTS HISTORICAL SOCIETY, held in Boston, on January 14, 1892, Dr. SAMUEL A. GREEN, in presenting a copy of an old journal, made the following remarks:—

Among the manuscript volumes belonging to the Historical Society is a diary of Lawrence Hammond, of Charlestown, kept two hundred years ago, which was given on March 11, 1858, by Miss Elizabeth Belknap, together with other books and manuscripts once owned by her father, the Rev. Dr. Jeremy Belknap. The journal consists of forty-three closely written pages,—though not always in regular sequence as to dates,—besides some blank ones, and was unbound when it came into the possession of the Society. It has since been bound, however; and in the copy now presented for the Proceedings nothing is omitted, with the exception of a few pages on ancient history and King Henry VIII., though no attempt has been made to arrange the entries in chronological order. A minute scrutiny of the folds of the paper comprising the volume seems to show that once, before it came here, there were more leaves in the book than there are now, and perhaps in tearing off the missing portion, presumably for the most part blank, in order to use the paper, some of the writing was lost.

At different periods this diary has been consulted by several historians, who refer to it in their pages. Thomas Prince, in the Preface to his Annals (page vii), mentions it as “An Original Journal of the late Capt. Lawrence Hammond of Charlestown and Boston, from 1677 to 1694, inclusively”; and in a note written by him on a letter from Thomas Hinckley to Isaac Foster, he refers to certain entries in the journal not now found there. (See Collections, 4th series, V. 13.) Dr. Jeremy Belknap, in his History of New Hampshire (I. 151, note). speaks of it as "a MS journal found in Prince's collection, and supposed to have been written by Captain Lawrence Hammond of Charlestown"; and uses it as authority for certain statements relative to an attack near Dover by the Mohawk Indians (I. 153), as well as for statements relative to the appointment of a commission to make a treaty of peace with the Indians (I. 158), — whereas neither of these events is even alluded to in the manuscript volume. This comparison shows that in Prince's day the journal extended over the same period of time as it covers now; and, furthermore, that then, as well as in Dr. Belknap's day, it contained more entries than it has now. These differences may be explained, perhaps, by the absence of leaves in certain folds of the book that I have already noted. All the missing entries occur within a period of less than thirteen months, and probably filled only a few pages of the diary. From these omissions our late associate, Charles W. Tuttle, Esq., was led to infer that once there were two separate and distinct journals kept by the writer. See his paper in the Proceedings XIII. (314) of this Society, which was presented at the meeting held on June 11, 1874.

Captain Hammond was made a freeman of the Colony on May 23, 1666, and for several years was chosen a Deputy to the General Court from Charlestown. In 1686 and several following years he was the Recorder of Middlesex County, whose duties corresponded very nearly to those of the present Registers of Deeds and Probate combined. He took an active interest in military matters, and was a Lieutenant and the Captain of a foot company in Charlestown. His death took place in Boston, on July 29, 1699.

March 9th The Disease of y^e meazles hath prevailed exceedingly in this land, it began in Boston in y^e summer & spread since into all parts of y^e Country, few have dyed thereof.

It began in our Towne y^e beginning of Winter & hath gone almost through every family.

Franc Hammond fell sick wth it about a month agoe. he kept at Widow Peachees.

Betty Hammoud soone after him. W^m Gerish at Boston about a month agoe Meazles Abigail Hammond at Salem about y^e same time, or before.

Parson Gerish in my family about y^e 22^d of february.

Betty Gerish }
 Bethia Gerish } March y^e 7th in our family, are now very ill.
 Little Laurence }

12 All well recovered through Gods mercy. Our Maid Tryal sick also & recovered.

This day we began to remove our Goods to M^{rs} Tucks house having hyred y^e southerly end for a Lease of 7 yeares, to pay £5.0.0 p annum.

30 Fra: Hammond shipt on board M^r Shrimptons barque, W^m Everton M^r bound for y^e Madera.

April 1 Skipper [William] Hurry made his first Voyage for this yeare fro. Pascataq, [Portsmouth, N. H.] loaden wth boards &c

3 This day, I deli^ured y^e key of D^r Chickering's house to M^{rs} [Hannah] Hunting, wife of Cap^t Sam: Hunting, who received y^e same of me. B^r Jos. Gerish carryed home his Daughter Betty from our house this day.

6 I rec^d of M^r Jn^o Parker of Redding for acco^t of Tho. Tayler sen^t of s^d Towne 34 s for Costs of Court & 50 s. in full of all accomts.

23 Munday. Training day. We Examin'd Armes & Ammunition I dismissed Samuel Kettle from being Drummer & Sergeant Rich^d Training Lowden from being Serg^t of y^e Company, at both their requests; I made Samuel Kettle youngest Serg^t & Nathaniel Kettle Drummer of y^e Company.

This day came into our family Elizabeth Nevenson, daughter of M^r Jn^o Nevinson & Elizabeth his wife. who wilbe 13 yeares of age ye 22^d day of October next: The verbal Coven^t betweene my Betty Nevinson wife & M^{rs} Nevenson is, that she ye s^d Elizabeth shall dwell with my wife as a serv^t six yeares. to be taught, instructed & provided for as shalbe meet, & y^t she shall not depart from our family during ye said time without my wifes consent.

24 I waited on the Governour to Concord, to vizeit Major Bulkeley.

25 The Governo^r took his Journey to y^e Eastward, & returned back May 28th following.

May 3 Was kept by Boston old Church, our Towne & Dorchester in fasting & prayer, more especially for raine, it having been an exceeding dry Spring & great signs of a Drought. And God was Fast pleased to hear prayers, & to give an answer in part that night in sending a very refreshing shower about two houres long, & a plentifull raine the begining of y^e following week.

11 My wife & I rod to Wenham this day, being fryday, & continued there till wednesday following. from thence we came to Wenham Salem y^t day & staid till ye next; & then came home.

March 7 About a fortnight agoe two men of Chelmsford, who were Cousen-Germans, who also marryed two sisters, went out wth their Guns together to kill Ducks &c. y^e one going just before ye other, the Gun in ye hand of ye hindmost man went off, & shot ye foremost man in ye back, wherof he presently Dyed: & when y^e Gun was Lookt upon, ye Cock was found at halfe bent, guarded wth ye Dog on ye outside, & the Hammer close down upon the pan: ye man not touching ye Lock after it fired, but threw ye gun down, & Ran to ye wounded man; Noe man knowing how ye powder sh^d take fire, unless it were by a spark of fire from ye foremost mans tobacco pipe (w^{ch} he had in his mouth when shot) carryed by ye wind between ye Barrel & Hammer of ye Gun, tho' no spark was seen by either of them; the hindmost man had no pipe lighted or fire about him: A strange providence!

M^r Sam. Whiting Minister of Billerica Related it to me this day.

Anno 1688. In New england, One J Brodbent an Exciseman and a Hectoring Debauchee, Resid^t in Boston (where too many of the same stamp, have lately multiplyed) meeting an Honest, Ingenious Countryman upon the Road, enquired of him, what Newes Countryman? who Replied, I know none: the other then Replied, Ill tell you som; What is it? (said ye Countryman); said the other, The Devil is Dead: How? said ye Countryman, I believe not that; Yes, said ye other, he is dead for certaine: Well then, said ye Countryman, if he be dead, he hath left many fatherless Children in Boston.

An Eminent Deliverance of M^r Jⁿ Hale Minister of Beverly & his family from Lightning.

Febr: 19. 1683.

His Relation wherof is this. My wife, two maids & two Children were by ye kitchin fire; myself with Deacon Hill in my study, & hearing ye thunder smart, were going down to Comfort ye family below, & as we came to ye head of ye Staires (D. Hill part down) we were both struck wth Lightning in our right Armes & right Legs, yet neither of us heard ye thunder, or saw ye Lightning; He was Less strook, & sooner got down staires; I was struck down upon my knees, by ye post we use to lay hands on, as we goe up & down staires, & unable to stirr for som time; but heard som of my family crying out of hurt below: at last I got down, my foot as if it were dead, & Leg full of paine, but wth help got to lie down on a bed; my Elbow seemed out of joynt, & Arm hung down like a stick, wth m^{ch} paine in it, but my fingers seemed dead: I have a bruise on my face, but suppose it might be wth my fall. In less yⁿ an hour, I found life in all my Limbs, & y^t no bone was broken or out of joynt, unless som small starting out of a bone in my wrist (praised be ye Lord) I find ye post I was by shivered on 3 sides. But to com to ye Rest; ye Lightning came downe ye Chimney, brake out som bricks just above ye mantletree; Hurt my wife & English maid on their heads, & ye Negro on her right Arm, yet all pretty well againe (thro' merey) it bowed out two paines of glass in y^e kitchin but brake out no glass, & on ye other side ye house beat out ye bottom of a paile, & touched severall pewter platters: on y^e top of y^e kitchin Chimney it brake out about 20 bricks; & on ye other side of ye Roof made an hole about 8 foot long, & then beat out ye North end of ye kitchin Chamber about 8 foot long & 3 foot wide, & tore out many other boards at y^t end, without doores it killd me a Cow, & in ye stable one Lamb, w^{ch} y^e Lord accepted of instead of our Lives. How unsearchable are his wayes & paths past finding out &c. I find no mark on my body, but a blue spot on my heele a $\frac{1}{4}$ of an Inch long & $\frac{1}{2}$ so wide, & somewhat sore, & one spot on ye sole of my foot, but not sore. taken out of his own Letter sent to his Bro: Wilson in Charlestowne.

Wee pricked a knife's point (saith M^r Morton in his Discourse of ye sense of Hearing) into ye belly of an Harpsicot, causing him to hold ye haft in his Teeth, then two of us severally played in his sight, ye one Harmonically som Tunes, ye other afterward struck a Confused Discord, clashing many of ye keys at once: ye poor man expressed wonderfull Joy at ye Harmony, & embraced him y^t had played it: but withall showed as m^{ch} displeasure & Contempt of him y^t had troubled him wth ye Discord. Then blindfold we set him in ye former posture ; & he y^t before had Clashed, now play'd Regularly ; & ye other y^t before had made musick, now Jumbled wth ye keyes, this we did severall times, shifting hands as we thought fit : & between every time unbound his Eyes. The man still after a musical playing shewed his kindness & gratitude to him whom he had seen play, wⁿ at first it pleased him, & so on the contrary. By w^{ch} it appeared plainly, y^t tho' he mistook ye persons, yet he very well pceived y^e sound & it's affections, & Distinguished betweene y^e Harmony & y^e Discord, wth an answerable satisfaction, or Regret.

M^r Morton gives this Instance to note a probability y^t y^e mouth is not devoid of a power of perceiving sound ; & y^t by ye tender nerves of y^e Teeth. &c.

A Violent Noyse may so Disorder the Brayn, as to render it unapt for its proper functions, ever after.

An Instance wherof, M^r Morton Relates (in his Discourse of ye sense of Hearing) in a Child, carryed in Armes, but of a quick apprehension, a Drum being beat close to ye child suddainly, as soon as ye Dru^m began to beat, ye child was Imediately taken wth a grievous Convulsion, the Countenance Distorted, & all understanding driven away ; & so it continued for wⁿ it was of 20 yeares of age, he saw it a Natural foole ; & enquiring ye Cause, his parents gave the afores^d beat of y^e Dru^m as ye reason. tho. he Remembers not y^t ye hearing was therby much Impaired.

April 18 Since the change of Government in this Land, by y^e Vacating our Chartar. & setting up a new form, first by a presid^t & Council, w^{ch} was done May 13th 1686. upon y^e Arrival of y^e Rose frigot, wherin M^r Edw^d Randolph brought a Co^mission for M^r Jos. Dudley, Presid^t & sundry other Gentlemen to be of y^e Council ; and then by a Governour & Council, upon the arrival of S^r Edm^d Andros, in the Kingfisher on y^e 18th day of December Anno 1686. whose Co^mission from King James ye 2^d Constituted y^e said S^r Edm^d to be Cap^t Generall & Governour in Chiefe of his Maj^{ties} Territory & Dominion of Newengland, in w^{ch} Commission sundry persons were joynd in Co^mission wth him as his Council : After w^{ch} other plantations were added to ye same Governm^t as Connecticut, New-york, East & west Jerzy &c. wherby ye Territory under ye same Governour was Extended to near 600 miles in length : I say these changes befell us, great & manyfold oppressions by fines, Imprisonm^{ts}, illegal & arbitrary prosecutions of many particular persons began to grow upon us, with Excessive charges in all Lawsuits & other matters in Courts, as also a claiming in ye name of ye King, all our Lands, especially such Lands as were not under personall & particular Improvem^{ts}, & y^e same in part, (& more designed to be) given to such who would petition & pay yearly acknowledgm^{ts} & the large fees stated, for y^e same, besides many other grievances w^{ch} no way appeared to redress, but men were made offenders for a word &c. The people in Boston & in y^e Townes adjacent did this day rise as one man, & having seized Cap^t George Commander of ye Rose & others; Drums were beat in Boston & sundry persons appearing form'd themselves into Companies under ye Co^mand of such Leaders as were well approved of for ye Design in hand: The Governo^r & severall others who had been his Creatures, fled to y^e fort. & there stood upon their defence; above a thousand men were soon in Armes in Boston, chiefly of y^t Towne, & partly from Charlestowne, & Roxbury; also six or 700 men marched down out of Middlesex to Charlestown y^e same day under y^e Co^mand of Cap^t Nath. Wade, & there quartered y^t night, y^e Companies in Armes at Boston, Marched to y^e fort, took y^e lower fort with ye great Artillery; y^e Redcoates ordered by y^e Governo^r to Issue out of y^e fort & fire upon them, but being come down ye Hill fired not a gun, but ran back to ye fort againe: Boston having taken y^e lower fort & great Guns, Loaded them, & planted y^m right against y^e fort; then Simon Bradstreet Esq. wth divers, Gentlemen, some of y^e Council, & others of ye former Governm^t, formd y^{ms}. into a Council & sent in writing to y^e Governo^r under their hands, their advice to him to surrender y^e Governm^t & forts, least ye Country now up should storn ye same, & take it by force. w^{ch} would be ye occasion of bloodshed, &c. The Governo^r wth others at length came down to y^e Council, sitting in y^e Town house; & after some discourse resignd all up

An Acco^t of my severall Marriages, to whom, & y^e time wⁿ, & y^e time of the deaths of such of y^m as God hath removed: Also y^e Names of my children whom God hath graciously given me, by whom, wⁿ borne, & y^e time of y^e decease of such whom God hath bereaved me of.

By my wife Audria, I had a sonne, named Francis, borne August y^e 19th 1663. who about y^e age of 18 yeares was bound to M^r. Nicho:
Follet, Marriner of Pascataqua for 5 yeares; whose time being expired,

He went to sea upon His own Acco^t, having y^e Commendation of all y^t knew Him for Sobriety & good proficiency in y^e Marriner's Art, & very hopefull in reference to true piety. The last Voyage He made Francis was from Boston in a Vessel of Colonel Shrimpton's. W^m Everton M^r bound for Madera's, after their discharge from y^t port they touched at Barmuda, & from thence home; & on y^e 24th day of November 1688. being come into Nantasket Bay, betw: 7 & 8 at night, y^e wind not serving to com up, they came to an Ankor; my son Francis was in y^e foretop, furling y^e foretopsaille, & from thence fell downe, struck upon y^e ship-side, & into y^e Sea, being (as its thought) struck dead wth y^e blow, soon sunk, & was never more seen, no boat nor hands ready to save him.

By my wife Abigail, I [had] one son & four Daughters.

Magazine" (I. 228-231), August, 1857, for a copy made by me thirty-five years ago. The account of the fire is as follows:—

"Altho' Boston did a few weeks ago, meet with a Disaster by Fire, which consumed about twenty Houses near the Mill-Creek, yet about midnight, between the sixteenth and seventeenth of this Instant, another Fire broke forth near the South-Meeting-House, which consumed about five or six houses, and had almost carried the Meeting-house itself, one of the fairest Edifices in the Country, if God had not remarkably assisted the Endeavours of the People to put out the Fire. There were two more considerable Circumstances in the Calamities of this Fire, one was that a young man belonging to the House where the Fire began, unhappily perished in the Flames; it seems that tho' he might sooner awake than some others who did escape, yet he some way lost those Wits that should have taught him to help himself. Another was that the best furnished PRINTING PRESS, of those few that we know of in America was lost; a loss not presently to be repaired."

Coppy of their Mittimus, he told y^e Messeng^{er} he had none, but supposed y^e Clerk had it; Sam. Phipps y^e Clerk being spoken wth, said, he had none, but he believ'd y^e Marshal had it, & if he had none, yⁿ there was none granted. These Women hereupon were advised to return to their families, for they could not be detained prison^{rs} without Mittimus longer yⁿ y^e Court was sitting; by colour of no Law; w^{ch} Court ended on y^e said 15th instant They accordingly came to their Houses on Munday.

But on this 19th day, comes y^e said Gookin to Charlestown, & without any Warr^t brake open M^r Trumbal's House, Rob^t Wyer's House & Dan. Smith's House, where he found & seiz'd M^r Trumbal; His Warr^t being demanded for so doing, he said, he was y^e Kings Officer & needed no Warr^t; & y^t by vertue of his office he could break open any house, or all y^e Houses in Town, if he saw meet, or words to this effect.

Cap^t Spragne told me, y^t in his hearing at Geo.
